WHAT WILL THE SCHOOL BOARD DO?

As the school year draws to a close, citizens from all over the city are seeking information as to what disposition the principal and superintendent, together with the school board, will make of the condition of affairs at the Summer High School. Nearly every day inquiries concerning the matter are received at the Argus office. According to the information received, there is a deep conviction in the community that the usefulness of certain teachers has long since been outlived, and the inquiry is made as to why the school authorities continue to retain them in the face of conditions. "An effort to fix the responsibility will doubtless be made unless the matter is handled promptly and rightly."

The thing which is most puzzling to the people, according to the statements made, is that the matter has been twisted about and an attempt has been made to construe the efforts to change conditions as an attack on the school. It is very clear, they state, that Summer High School has not been attacked; but the bad conditions spoken of relate to the retention of certain teachers who are fully identified so far as the people are concerned. According to these persons there is no reflection on any other teacher at the school save those involved. St. Louis has a very high regard, as a whole, for the teaching force in its schools and especially at the Summer, but they assert there is no reason to retain these teachers who are unfit and whom the whole community recognizes and designates as such.

For the benefit of inquirers and the public in general, the Argus sets out the manner of employing teachers as applied to the St. Louis schools. The present school system is the creature, very largely, of the late lamented F. Louis Soldan, who was a big, broad-gauged man. Under this system, the anomalous condition is created that the creature is greater than his creator. The board of education elects the superintendent for a term of years. After he is once elected, the superintendent has the exclusive right to nominate teachers. The only power which the board retains in this matter is the power to confirm his nominees or reject them. If it cannot place the name of an individual before it for consideration as a teacher, if anyone who is teaching now falls of recommendation by the superintendent, that is the end of it. There is no power to go behind the action of that officer. This gives him tremendous power and causes members of the board to be in a position peculiar to its weakness. If the superintendent should choose to act arbitrarily about a matter with reference to the appointment or retention of teachers, the board, who created him, would have little power to rectify the matter.

Such a system works admirably in the hands of a broad-minded man, who is too big and broad to be swayed by friendship or influenced unduly by bias or prejudice of individuals.

Mention of the name of Soldan, naturally brings up the question, what would this individual have done under the present circumstances. The Argus has interviewed a number of persons in order to obtain the pre-arranged statistics in this regard, and found it unanimous to the effect that Soldan would have cleaned up this matter in a hurry and that his action would have been so just and his method so thorough and unbiased as to have settled the affair long before it became public property. The Argus adds its voice to the lamentations of the people: "Oh, for just one day of the judgment, fairness and courage of F. Louis Soldan, and this whole matter would be settled and St. Louis would cease to be the laughing stock of the country. Shades of the departed, hover near and infuse that spirit into the present conditions, we pray."

BIG ATTRACTIONS BOOKED FOR STREET FAIR

Carnival Company From Georgia Has Been Engaged. Churches, Societies and Lodges Taking Advantage of Big Offer

The big Charity Carnival, Street Fair and Bazaar, which is to be held on the grounds at Cardinal and Manchester from June 21 to 27, is attracting unusual attention. It is evident that the company, under the management of Robert McCloskey, 3227 Laclede, intends to outclass any previous attempts in this line of outdoor summer amusements. During the past week a contract was let for a big carnival company of Georgia and several other attractions were booked.

Many charitable and fraternal organizations have already engaged concession booths under the free offer. In fact, this seems to be a splendid opportunity to replenish the treasury of organizations without expense, as the promoters are offering free space to all applicants.

Mr. McCloskey says his company is prepared to carry out every promise it is making in its advertisements and special communications and will make this big attraction the artistic equal, if not the superior, of any like enterprise projected this summer.

Applications for space must be in not later than June 10. A day will be set aside for each organization, and the gate receipts divided. The admission will be 10 cents each night. Those desiring space or further particulars should phone Bomont 2759 or write Robert McCloskey, 3227 Laclede.

Careful dressers will do well to visit the place when in need of haberdashery and clothing in the latest style, best quality and lowest prices.

PARKWAY BOOMING

Many Business, Profession and Fraternal Men Support Movement

As the time draws near for the people to decide by their vote whether we shall have a parkway or not, much interest has manifested itself on the part of colored people in this city. Many men who were inclined to doubt the wisdom of the plan. Some of St. Louis' most progressive citizens are supporting the parkway.

A. W. Lloyd, Grand Chancellor, Knights of Pythias, State of Mo., said: "I favor the Central Parkway because we cannot afford to let greater St. Louis fall behind in civic development. The same spirit in St. Louis among its white and colored citizens that exists in Kansas City would secure a Central Parkway a non-exempted majority."

H. S. Ferguson, a business man, said: "One needs only to witness the multitude enjoying the Parkway of Kansas City to be convinced of its value to the public."

W. G. Shaw, pastor of Metropolitan A. M. E. Church, said: "I believe in a progressive city and will always be found in progressive movements and why shouldn't I favor the Parkway if it stands for the progress of St. Louis?"

Many others who believe in "St. Louis to the Front" are lined up for the Parkway and are predicting that the proposition will carry by a large majority June 8.

MT. ZION NOTES

Home Coming

The 51st anniversary of Mt. Zion Baptist Church, 2646 Papin St., Sunday, June 13. All of the members are invited to be present on that day. Dinner will be served.

The progress of Zion has been indeed wonderful under the administration of Rev. Wm. Harris. The Lord has added ninety members to the church, and in our Rally Sunday, we raised $170.00 and laid the last note on our church property. Zion is out debt. Pastor Harris will preach next Sunday on the subject, "Paying the Debt of a Wasted Life."

METROPOLITAN NOTES

By Miss Callie King

Last Sunday was another record breaker at the Metropolitan A. M. E. Zion Church. It was said by all who were present that Dr. Shaw delivered one of the most powerful sermons that he has ever delivered since being in this city. Several joined the church.

Sunday closes this conference year. The pastor will be away after next Tuesday at conference; he will, no doubt, be at his best Sunday, since it is his farewell sermon for this conference year.

The choir at Metropolitan is charming the city with its sweet singing, the professional and recreational add music to the solemnity of the services. Mr. Austin, the chorister, is receiving many congratulations for the splendid music rendered by the choir.

An Appeal to Students

By REV. HOWARD W. POPE

Representative of Mass. Wesleyan Univ. of Chicago

TEXT—Study to show thyself approved unto God.—II Timothy 3:15

Mr. Gladstone was once asked what was the leading question in England at that time. He replied that there was but one leading question at that time, or at any time, and that was the question of one's relation to the Lord Jesus Christ. He said that the brainiest men were those who paid most attention to this subject. "I have known personally all the men who have been prominent in England during the last fifty years, in business, politics, or literature, and of the sixty most prominent men, fifty-four have been professing Christians."

If Mr. Gladstone was right, and if the question of one's relation to Christ is the leading question which should be a student's, it is very important that he settle it early. Indeed this question lies at the basis of all education. What is the real object of education? It is to increase one's capacity to know God, and to make him known to others. This is what education is for, what life is for. "And this is the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom thou hast sent" (John 17:3).

The keenest delight of which we are capable comes to us from knowing God. When the devout astronomer Kepler made his great discovery, he exclaimed, "O God, I think thy thoughts after thee. There is no greater joy than this, unless it be that of seeing God's character reproduced in our lives. If this be true, then education is not optional with us, but imperative. We are bound to cultivate every talent which we possess, because each is an avenue through which God can reveal himself to us. We are bound to open every window of our soul towards Jerusalem," and let in the light of God's glorious truth.

II. The superior advantages which students enjoy make it doubly important that they should become acquainted early with the truth. Education enlarges one's capacity to see and foresee, to do and to undo. It multiplies his influence, and thus increases his responsibility, since the welfare of others depends upon his action and attitude. No educated person can possibly live a Christless life without leaving a trail of sorrow behind him. This consideration should have great weight. A professor in a large military school recently told the writer that it was the thought of his influence with the boys which led him to decide for God and put himself on record as a Christian.

III. Again, the peculiar temptations which confront a student make an acquaintance with Jesus indispensable. Among these may be mentioned:

(a) The freedom from restraint. The strong, steady hand of the father and the indescribable influence of the mother is lacking. There is no younger brother or sister to be considered, not even the restraining influence of someone else's sister. The consequence is that one grows selfish and prone to think that the world was made for him.

(b) The petty vices which prevail so commonly among students. By the side of the writer in college at the valedictorian of the class. He was a well-dressed man, but he had no religious principles. When others drank he was not strong enough to refuse. After graduation he studied law and became one of the most brilliant and promising lawyers in the state. Temptations grew stronger and more frequent, and having no acquaintance with him "who is able to save to the uttermost," and "able to keep you from falling," he lost his standing and business, and died a common drunkard.

(c) Not the least of the dangers which confront a student is the temptation to doubt. He lives in an atmosphere of inquiry and criticism. Old theories are being laid aside and new facts are constantly being discovered. Possibly he sees some of his instructors, for whose ability he has the highest respect, utterly indifferent to the claims of the Gospel. He sees a host of full of covert enemies to religion. He is just at the age when his critical faculties are being developed, and he begins to question everything which he once believed. Add to this the natural willingness of the heart to have it so, and you have a combination of circumstances calculated to shake the strongest faith. Some, indeed, think it a sign of superior intellect to doubt, but this is a mistake. It is sometimes a sign of spiritual blindness and of moral obliquity. A large part of the skepticism of students is of the heart rather than of the head.

Idle men tempt the devil to tempt them.—Spirgeon.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. RELLER, Acting Director of Sunday School Course of Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.)

LESSON FOR JUNE 6

NATHAN REBUKES DAVID.

LESSON TEXT—II Samuel 12:12-13:1. SOLOMON TEXT—One in me a clean heart O God.—Psalm 51:10.

This is a lesson that demands great care in its presentation and treatment, which will differ widely according to age. For the younger the briefest sort of statement that David fell in love with Uriah's wife and to obtain her had her husband killed will be sufficient. With such, though the emphasis upon the danger of harboring evil thoughts and the need of hearty purity (see Golden Text).

With adults, however, some time may be devoted to the social evil, which is such a menace to every nation, care being taken lest the discussion become morbid, or that we neglect the important fact that the cure is not in regulation or reformation but in the regeneration of the human heart.

David's Many Good Deeds, II Samuel, 7 and 8. As a background for the most repulsive sin David had a long list of excellent deeds. His desire for a better abiding place for the ark was not according to God's will for two reasons: first, that an ornate house might easily corrupt, through idolatry, the spirituality of the Hebrew religion; second, David was a warrior and therefore not qualified for temple building. Though denied, David did not despair, but at once provided that his successor carry the ark into the regeneration of the human heart.

David's One Great Sin, II Samuel, 11:6. David's victories over his enemies are dismissed in a few verses, yet his sin is set forth in detail—another evidence of the divine origin and inspiration of the Bible. David had followed the example of neighboring kings and taken for himself many wives, evidently regarding his fancy as supreme and himself as above the law. David was "of guard" in the matter of temptation, a dangerous position for a soldier and a civilian. David had had too long and too great a period of success and prosperity for his long period of privation and this led to pride and self-pride. David was "off duty," indulging in ease while Joab did his fighting, and a murderer. David's record in no way seeks to palliate his guilt. From all this the record brings to us many important lessons. Outwardly prosperous and his army successful, David must have felt in his heart the spiritual blight in the words, "but the thing that he did was evil in the eyes of the Lord" (II Samuel 12:9); no psalm writing will.

III. Nathan's Parable, II Samuel, 12:1-7. It is an evidence of God's grace that he sent his servant to rebuke and restore this "man after his own heart." Such is his mercy, for he does not will that any should perish, but that all might come to repentance (I Cor. 13) and led to the writing of the fifty-first psalm. It was a delicate task before Nathan then to rebuke the king, yet it reveals the essential nobleness of David in that he did not become angry. Nathan's task and his wisdom are seen in his approach and in the way he led David to condemn, unwittingly, his own course of action. This was better than to begin with upbraiding and denunciation. Verse two suggests, incidentally, God's great goodness to David, which made the offense one of grace and not of wrath.

IV. The Art of the Man—V. 7. Thus far the story is one all too common, then and now, of the strong crushing the weak and glorying in their selfishness. What follows is the evidence of God's response to man's repentance, the parallel to which has nowhere else been found in the ancient world. The story is that David heard and heeded God's messenger. The whole sordid story with its resultant action of David's past brings us many important lessons. (1) That man who had lived a life of faith and communion felt most miserably when he neglected his duty and took his eyes off God. There is a grave danger ahead of the man who begins to trifle with sin (I Cor. 10:12). (2) Though a man fall the guilty man, yet he is not utterly cast down. There is pardon for the vilest sinner and the most abject backslider. David's murderous hands and evil-minded soul found pardon (Ps. 51 and 52). (3) A man's sins, though he may find pardon, will cloud all of his future.

David felt it in his own life and family; both daughter and sons felt its blight (see chapter 13), and it brought forth David's immortal lament over Absalom.

David's trusted friend joined the son's rebellion and caused David great sorrow (see 11:23; 23:34; 18:21 and Ps. 51:12-14).

A human look would cover up, omit or seek to palliate such an act by one of the great of the earth (of the story of Nathan and Joab), yet the Bible tells all the facts to serve as a warning and to reveal God's matchless grace and mercy.

Miss Leslie Poston arrived Monday from an extensive trip to Rolla, Mo. The friends of Mr. Sterling Alexander are in deep sympathy with him in the loss of his limbs. Mr. Eliza Overton is spending a fortnight with her grandparents, Mrs. A. Reed, of St. Louis. It has been years since there were so many out of town visitors to the commencement exercises as were here from last week. Mineral Point, Fredericktown, Charleston, Coffman, Bonne Terre, Ste. Marys, Pototsi, Herculan, and St. Louis were well represented. The Marine Hall, in which the exercises were held was too small for the vast crowd assembled and many were forced to go away without being able to enter. There were upwards of forty visitors present. Prof. V. E. Williams returned to Chillicothe Wednesday after having had a successful school year. Some one feels lonely—Miss Zelma Swink has returned from Champagne where she has been attending school. Monday evening was one long to be remembered by those who attended the social given at the A. M. E. Church in honor of Prof. Williams and the graduates. We had one of the "Old Cal Walkin's Times." Who'd a thought that those honey bees of Fredericktown would have lost the game Friday? The Bumble Bees, of Farmington, simply walked on the water and slid on the mud to a score of 13-5. Rev. Watson received the intelligence of the demise of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Watson was permitted to be with her when the end came. The patrons of Douglass School and friends, as well took great delight in entertaining the guests who were present at the commencement and the teachers and pupils of Douglass School desire to thank them for their generosity.

That the Clover Leaf Casualty Co., of Jacksonville, Ill., is forging its way to the front and in the hearts of St. Louisans is becoming more evident every day. It was the writers pleasure to be called at the local office, located at 2359 Market St., a few days ago, and finding an opportunity to speak at some length with the District Manager, Mr. E. Hawkins, relative to the operation of this company in the city. Mr. Hawkins who was very busy, said that all he wished to say concerning the company was that they were paying their claims and forging to the front. And as evidence of that fact he pulled from a drawer a list of claims that had been paid through the local office about eight feet long with the names of a large number of business and professional men, of men and women of all classes who had been disabled and had been benefited by receiving their money promptly. When asked what he thought of other companies doing the same kind of business among colored people, Mr. Hawkins produced a list of ten agents directly under him who are employed by the Clover Leaf, and said, "Where is another company in this city that has as many colored men employed?" The Clover Leaf is making places for our men. They have a young woman employed as clerk and cashier, a very responsible position, which she fills with credit. "I have nothing to say against any other company. I am a booster and have no time to knock. A knocker never won anything by knocking."

Clover Leaf Forging To The Front

District Manager, E. Hawkins, Sees Bright Future For Agents

We found Mr. Hawkins very optimistic on the question of the future for colored insurance agents in this city and said that though the company was always willing to promote and encourage the agents to go to other cities where they might have full charge of a district, he was loath to give up anyone of his force on account of the peace and harmony that exist among them at present.

IS THIS THE LAST WAR?

The Argus has been asked time and again to express its opinion on the European War. We have hesitated doing so for several reasons. First, there are so many phases of the question—so many different viewpoints—that it is a problem to know from which angle the question shall be discussed. Next, with our limited editorial space and weekly issues, it is impossible to do justice to any discussion. And again, the whole matter is so fully and ably handled by our several daily papers, and so many times a day, that it would seem like presumption on our part to add our little "I say so."

But under the pressure of repeated requests, and in answer to the oft repeated question which heads this paragraph, we venture the following opinion:

Is this the last war? No. Does it presage the end of the world? No. A war in which two hundred millions of men will go forth from Asia (beyond the Euphrates) is yet to follow this European War. Scriptural prophecy—which has never yet failed—is used as an argument in proof of the statement that the present great war is Armageddon. But Scriptural prophecy is often wrongly interpreted.

We have neither time nor space to quote, but our conclusions are as follows—based upon a knowledge of past history, a consideration of present conditions and a study of future prophecy:

The great Armageddon battle, which will end all human strife in the battlefield, will probably follow close upon the heels of the present war; or it may be a continuation of this war. The European war is not near its close. The entrance of Italy into the arena will not hasten the end.

The present war, the greatest in history, will mark the beginning of the end of human government. The world's events always move in a circle. History repeats itself. The world started under a theocracy. It has swung around through autocracy, monarchy, limited monarchy, democracy—all segments of the great circle. It has yet to reach anarchy—no government at all—then the circle will be complete, and the world will have swung back to theocracy—government by God—like it started.

Before the reign of anarchy, and at the close of this war, there will be a confederacy of the European States, which may include America, and this confederacy will rule the world for a short time. Then anarchy, then the Armageddon battle, then destruction. After all this peace, brotherhood and the reign of righteousness. The Armageddon battle will not take place within the lifetime of any of us. The end of the world is not yet in sight. The dawn of the Millennium is a long way off.

The present war will involve all Europe, part of Asia and probably America. Millions will die of famine and pestilence. The cry for peace will not avail.

We are not prophesying. We are neither a prophet nor the son of one; nor a seventh son of a seventh son. We are merely reading the future by the past. We see tomorrow in the light of today.

THE COST OF THE PARKWAY

It will cost less at this time than it will at any other time. We must have one sooner or later.

WHEN JUSTICE GETS A HEARING

Major R. R. Jackson, one of the colored members of the Illinois legislature, succeeded in having a bill passed by that body, barring such moving pictures in that state as "The Nigger," "The Clansman," "The Birth of a Nation." We are made to feel that justice is having a hearing. No one can read his earnest and eloquent appeal for justice for his race, without readily seeing what it means to us all to have representatives in our state legislatures, and even our city government, who feel as we feel, who think as we think, who suffer as we suffer.

It is stated that the white members of that body say that they see the justice of having a colored man in the legislative body as they never saw it before. When justice gets a hearing, there will be others of our race in other legislative halls, pleading the cause of a people that needs representation.

ANNOUNCEMENT

An entertainment will be given at St. Paul A. M. E. Church Monday evening, June 7, 1915, under the auspices of the Improvement Club, assisted by the Decoration Committee of Order of Eastern Star, Grand Chapter. A program by some of the best local talent will be rendered. Certain at 8 p. m. Admission, 10 cents. Committee: C. R. Davis, Chairman, Lila Covington, Willie Sanders, Sec'y, Mrs. Victoria Clay-Haley, R. G. M. Mistress of Ceremony.

Some Hints To Moving Picture Patrons

As Told by W. H. King, Proprietor Of The Garden Airdome 2120 Market Street

First, patronize those places that give your race entertainment.

When you don't feel like going to Forest Park Highlands, come to the Garden Airdome where you are always welcome. (Blood is thicker than water.)

How many white odeons on Market St. employ colored help?—All of our employees are Colored.

We spent Eight Hundred Dollars in improvements, and every dollar was paid to Colored workmen. How many white odeons on Market St. have done as much for the race?

If you think you are doing right by spending all of your money in white odeons, let your daughter apply for a position as Cashier at one of them and please let us know if she gets the position.

We are giving our patrons the best moving pictures that money can buy, even though we are forced to send to Chicago to get them because the white odeon proprietors on Market St. have bought up all of the local service in an effort to keep us from doing business among our own people.

For further information along this line, see Mr. King, 2120 Market St., at the Garden Airdome.—Adv.

MEMPHIS TIGERS COMING FOR THREE GAMES BEGINNING NEXT SUNDAY

Southern Champions to Meet Giants at Kuebler's Park. Sprudels Break Even in Two Hard Fought Battles

Charlie Mills' Giants will face the Memphis Tigers at Kuebler's Park, in a three-game series, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. The Tigers loom up as the champions of the South and bid fair to surprise our diamond stars. The Tennessee boys are traveling in major company this season and three crack-jack games can be expected.

The West Baden Sprudels broke the Giants' winning streak Monday by winning a grueling contest, 2 to 1. Twenty-five hundred loyal fans saw one of the best games ever played here. Young Smith, a new pitcher who Manager Mills discovered in East St. Louis, pitched a good game, but the Giants could not manufacture enough bingles off Casey, the Sprudels' speedy southpaw, to pull him through victorious. A sensational running left-hander, catch by "Spec" Webster in right field was the feature of this game.

Sunday, the Giants scalped the Sprudels to the tune of 5 to 2, before more than 3,000 persons. Williams pitched a good game, and contributed a three-base hit and nine assists. Hewitt and Handy made home runs.

Major League baseball is on tap at Kuebler's Park, and there's quite a bit of Major League jealousy afloat in the atmosphere.

Jack Mertens is giving excellent satisfaction as an umpire. Jack is on the square, that's the best of it.

Hats off to Charlie Mills. You can't catch him napping off first.

Our cordial neighbors on the East Side pulled a bone last week by trying to segregate the Negroes at the Elks' game between our Giants and the East Side team. Mills' caught the signal and threatened to call the game off unless Negroes were permitted to occupy any seats they choose. Granted. But the rain prevented "Spec" and Company from wallowing them for being so rude. They also say the New City League tried the same stunt. Same results. No Segregation. Bravo! Charlie.

Mrs. Elmore Wilson-Morton was conspicuous in one of the boxes at the games Sunday and Monday. This talented actress is to spend the summer in St. Louis.

BOOKER WASHINGTON PAY

ROLL TOO BIG FOR ONE NIGHT

Four Shows Necessary to Entertain Big Crowd Monday

It took four shows to entertain the continuous stream of patrons who came to get their pay envelope at the Booker Washington Monday night and then many turned back because of the jam.

Mr. Turpin has decided to make Thursdays as well as Mondays Pay Day.

"Chicken Reel" Beaman opens the show with the best line of original jokes heard here in a long time. He sings a parody on "Balling the Jack" puts over a song about the parkway and does some dancing that goes big. Frankie Barton and her Perrios present a lively act of song, dance and comedy. The combination of boxing and dancing by the three boys is well executed. A dance contest closes the act.

Mme. Cecil Watts, a real song bird of the prima donna class, possesses an excellent soprano voice and renders three numbers in delightful style. She is a sister of Mme. Francis E. Motin, of this city and is stopping with her at 4129 West Belle.

The Griffin Sisters close the show with an act replete with comedy, absurdity and tuneful melody. They display a wealth of dazzling costumes and cut up many unexpected capers that keep the audience in a continuous uproar.

CONCERNING BUSINESS AFFAIRS.

He gives dates, facts and figures, reliable and important advice and information on all matters of interest in business transactions, law suits, contested wills, life insurance, damage suits, divorces, deaths, mortgages, claims, collections, speculations, adventures, stocks and all financial difficulties. Truly predicts the success or failure of new inventions, patents, pending patent claims, etc.; tells whether you will receive fair dealing with partners. If you desire to know what business you shall follow to be successful, where you shall go and whom to avoid if you intend to make any change or to start a business, buy or sell property, or, in fact, take any important step, don't fail to consult W. L. Gladstone. His advice may be the means of saving you thousands of dollars and a great deal of trouble.

LOVE, COURTSHIP AND MARRIAGE.

If affairs of the heart or emotions of love interest you, he gives the exact and truthful revelations of all that is to come, settles lovers' quarrels, enables you to win the affection and attention of anyone you desire, causes speedy and happy marriages; tells if the one you love is true; also date of marriage; raises lost affection, peace and confidence in lovers and discontented families; gives you the full secret how to control, fascinate and charm the one you love; also those you meet, and how to make a person at a distance think of you.

Lady Attendant: Miss M. Medicine

NOTE—These calling for free and happy and trifling persons are only wanting time calling on Prof. Gladstone.

Strangely fascinating are the words that come from the cultivated lips of this most interesting man whose journey of life has already taken him through all the renowned psychic schools of Egypt, India, and Europe. It seems, indeed, as if his knowledge must come from that mysterious world of which we all would know yet longing, cannot know. He looks far away into the dim mysterious future—the great beyond—across the dark chasm which separates the human body from the fitting soul—and that which is to be told.
